DRAFT DISABILITY ACCESS AND INCLUSION PLAN 2026-2030

WHAT IS A DAIP?

This Disability Access and Inclusion Plan (DAIP) outlines how Riverland councils will work to improve access and inclusion for people with disability across the region. It provides a clear and practical framework to guide planning, service delivery and decision-making.

DEVELOPMENT OF THE DRAFT DAIP

Facilitated engagement activities were undertaken in November 2025, including eight workshops, a dedicated Our Voice SA workshop and an online/hardcopy survey. 99 council staff, councillors and community members participated in workshops, with over 50 survey responses received.

OUR ACTION PLAN

We've used the feedback we heard to create 43 actions.

These initiatives span a wide range of improvements, from making council buildings, events and services more accessible, to fostering more inclusive attitudes toward disability.

HOW THE PLAN WILL BE DELIVERED

This Plan will be implemented across Riverland Councils through a coordinated and collaborative approach. Responsible teams within each council will identify and deliver actions through annual work plans and budget processes. Disability access and inclusion will be embedded into day-to-day operations, planning and decision making. People with disability will be involved wherever feasible, including through consultation, feedback processes and participation in advisory or reference groups.
